

ZAGAT

9 Best New Brunches to Try in San Diego

We're all about new options for 2017, specifically brunch. If you've been there and done that with tried-and-true brunch spots around San Diego, this is the list for you. We highlight the best new brunch options to satisfy your cravings, plus a few updated menus as well. Read below for nine new brunches to add to your rotation.

Bracero Cocina

You may know this feisty Little Italy restaurant for its Baja-inspired dishes, but now it's aiming to conquer the morning scene with weekend brunches, 11 AM–3 PM. Anything featuring the handmade tortillas is a surefire winner, but also make it a point to check out hearty breakfast fare like machada menudo mariscos, pan dulce and antojitos.

Must-order: El Poderos, a rib-eye steak served with a side of eggs

1490 Kettner Blvd.; 619-756-7864